The troops are well equipped, well armed, and exercise daily. Four resiments of regular cavalry, compricing 1,600 men, have been formed, and a cannon foundry and powder manufactory established outside Herat. The latter produce one cannon and a tonand a quarter of powder weekly. Rumour is divided in assigning these preparations either to a proposed campaign against the Turcomans of Mery or against the people of Scietan. If the former, it is probable that the presence of Russian agents at Herat has had something to do with these warlks movements.

The loss is the greater inasmuch so the young heir represents, through both his pareats, a name dear to Paris, The late duke, although an Italian, bad acclimationd himself to such an extent in the French depital. as to be considered practically neturalized, and it would almost seem as if see had taken the same view of the matter, for he was out of by death at the very moment when be was about to found a University at Rome. -Globe.

A gardener's boy having gone to sleep under the shade of some fruit trees. "Wretched follow, cried his master, as he swoke him, ste you not ashamed to sleep instead of working? Go along with you, you vagabond, you are not worthy that the sun should shine on you, "That is why I went into the chade," replied the boy.

The Arctic ships Alors and Discovery were placed in Nos. 8 and 10 docks. Portsmouth on the 6th December, and on the mater being pumped out, to day, it was discovered that the Alere had bad about 22 feet of her false keel under her formast carried away by the ice, and that her fore foot planking on both bows had been deeply gattered by the severe nine which she had anstained. The Discovery was perfectly uninjured, and the pumps in both ships were as tight as before sailing. When the Aler has had her planking trimmed, and the wood bottoms of the ships bare been painted (the copper sheathing was stripped off previous to their doparture from England), they will be towed up the barbour and placed in the first division of the Steam Reserve until again wanted. A friend of ours, who attended a sable "night mocting," reports :- Then Mr. Johnson arose and enorted substantially as follows: Breddren I'm a gwine to gib you a sample ob de pious man and de empions man, Now, you are de ompjous, and whay do ye s'poss ya'll go when ye die la know.
